A guide to joining the professional Neuro Linguistic Psychotherapy and Counselling Association

Our History

The number of people using Neuro Linguistic Programming (NLP) has grown enormously. The Neuro Linguistic Psychotherapy and Counselling Association (NLPTCA) grew out of a desire amongst people using NLP in a purely therapeutic setting to focus on the field of therapy specifically.

The Neuro Linguistic Psychotherapy and Counselling Association was formed as a 'free standing, not for profit organisation' in July 2002. Previously from 1992 there had been a group called the 'Psychotherapy and Counselling Section' within the Association for Neuro Linguistic Programming (ANLP). This change meant that Neuro Linguistic Psychotherapists and Psychotherapeutic Counsellors have their own identity within the field of psychotherapy. Since 2002 we have had our own robust processes for meeting the stringent criteria for being entered onto the United Kingdom Council Psychotherapy (UKCP) register of psychotherapists.

What the NLPTCA Offers

The Neuro Linguistic Psychotherapy and Counselling Association is the professional organisation in the United Kingdom that provides help and support to psychotherapists and counsellors whose therapeutic work has developed from NLP.

The NLPTCA is an accrediting organisational member of the UKCP. As a member, it provides the only pathway to professional registration as a Neuro Linguistic Psychotherapist.

The NLPTCA also offers guidance and direction with training and development from NLP practitioner level through to Accredited Neuro Linguistic Psychotherapist.

The NLPTCA Exists to Support Its Members By:

- Developing and maintaining standards for the practice of Neuro Linguistic Psychotherapy and Counselling interests.
- Monitoring the activities and furthering the interests of its members.
- Offers guidance and development for NLP Practitioners, NLP Master Practitioners, NLPT Psychotherapists and Psychotherapeutic Counsellors or those considering and beginning a career as a therapist.
- To further the use of the techniques, training and practice of NLPT.
- Representing the interests of NLPTCA to other professional and regulatory authorities engaged in the field of psychotherapy and counselling.
- Promoting Neuro Linguistic Psychotherapy and Counselling to the wider public

Benefits of Joining the NLPTCA

- Professional Registration with the UKCP as an Accredited Neuro Linguistic Psychotherapist or Psychotherapeutic Counsellor.
- A well developed Code of Ethics that all members agree to adhere to. With this comes a complaints procedure that is clear, balanced and well supported.
- All members can choose to list their details on the NLPTCA website from NLP practitioner level, through to Accredited NLPT Psychotherapists so that clients can find you. Regular communication which keeps members in contact with what is developing within the organisation, member's news and briefings on policy and regulatory issues affecting members.
- Access to the NLPTCA conference when members engage with the NLPT community to discuss professional issues and concerns and explore opportunities related to the organisation.
- Access to training, continual professional development (CPD) and other events which may be of interest to members
- Access to discounted malpractice and liability insurance
- Opportunities to get involved with the organisation and development of the NLPT as a psychotherapy and counselling modality.
